Tuition Information

Tuition is a vital part of the long-term financial stability of Music con Brio. We ask that every family contribute what they can in order to continue providing the best possible program, instruments, and equipment for our students. Tuition is based on annual household income. If you need a different payment plan than paying your semester tuition in full by the second week of class, you must speak with the director within the first week of class. If no tuition payment is received nor communication made, we reserve the right to give your child's spot to another student.

What does tuition cover?

Tuition covers group lessons and partner lessons each semester. The use of an instrument and other equipment (on loan) is also included.

When is tuition due?

Tuition is always due on Tuesday during the second week of a semester. Fall 2019 semester tuition is due by Tuesday, September 17th. Spring 2020 semester tuition is due by Tuesday, February 11th. Cash (in a labeled envelope) or checks are acceptable. Please make checks to Music con Brio, Inc. and hand them to us in person or mail them to: Music con Brio, Inc. PO Box 259452, Madison, WI 53725. We also have a credit card option available through PayPal, but there is an additional 3% per transaction fee to pay with a credit card.

What if I need to request a payment plan?

We recognize that some families may need an individualized payment plan. We also acknowledge that there are other factors that may limit your ability to pay, including larger families, unemployment, illness, and multiple children in the program. Please communicate with us (via e-mail, phone or in person) about what will work in your family budget. We will do our best to accommodate your situation. Remember, no one will be turned away because of financial need!

McB@GCC Agreement 2019-2020

Email is Music con Brio's primary mode of communication with parents. Information regarding schedules, concerts, volunteer opportunities, and tuition will all be sent out via email. It is every parent/guardian's responsibility to regularly check, read, and respond (when necessary) to these emails.

Attendance is one of the most important factors contributing to a student's success in music making. To ensure every student's success, students must attend no fewer than 7 out of every 8 lessons. (This includes both group and partner lessons.) This means only one unexcused absence is allowed per month. If you must miss due to an emergency or illness, email info@musicconbrio.org or call/text your teacher or Ms. Carol to be excused. (You can reach Ms. Carol at 309-838-8807.) If you are unable to attend regularly, Music con Brio reserves the right to give your lesson time to someone else.

Being on time and bringing your instrument is a part of good attendance. Students who are routinely late and/or without instruments and/or are otherwise unprepared for the lesson are unable make proper use of lesson time. Therefore, punctuality and preparedness are part of the attendance policy. Performing in concerts for others is an important part of learning an instrument. Students and parents are expected to prioritize punctual attendance at all Music con Brio performances.

Students

- ✓ Regularly attend group classes and lessons.
- ✓ Practice 5-6 days per week for 10-45 minutes, depending on age and level.
- ✓ Bring assigned instrument, accessories, music, and lesson notebook to every class/lesson.
- ✓ Follow directions of the teacher.
- ✓ Maintain excellent behavior.
- ✓ Take risks.

Parents

- ✓ Regularly read and respond to Music con Brio emails.
- ✓ Monitor regular practice.
- ✓ Be on time for lessons and student pick up.
- ✓ Remind and build responsibility with your child for instrument care.
- ✓ Keep instrument in a safe place and appropriate temperature.
- ✓ Keep instrument out of the cold and heat while in transit/storage.
- ✓ Maintain communication with instructors regarding attendance, feedback or questions about the program. (24 hours advance notice appreciated for absences)
